I thought you would all like to know (especially those of you who have met and fallen in love with Orla) how well she is doing, she has settled in with us in 'not so' sunny Wales. What a wonderful dog she is, after everything shes been through. I have to say my mum has most definately got her hands full. Less than a week and shes full of trouble. We havent stopped laughing since we brought her home, shes got so much character. With the tender love and care she deserves she has already put on a little bit of weight this week,lets hope this continues. She has almost got a recall figured out and will sit for a treat, such a clever girl. She is having a thoroughly wonderful time with her new doggy brother Kanu. A big thank you to everyone we met at the funday, everybody was so lovely, will keep you up dated of Orlas progress and post some pictures shortly
